Tips for Purchasing A Great Fitting Dive Mask

1. Take a regulator or snorkel along when trying on masks. The only way to get a truly good fit is to try the snorkel and mask together.
2. It's important to start with a mask(s) that best fit your face. Not everything in the dive shop will be an option. Mask skirts generally range from 4 1/2 - 5 inches in width between the temples, but they vary greatly in shape.
3. Remove the strap or push it to the side. Water pressure is what seals the mask to your face, not strap pressure.
4. Hold the mask up to your face making sure hair is out of the way. Is there enough space between the skirt and the corners of the eyes? Also, does the mask rest comfortably under the mouth leaving room between skirt and lips?
5. With snorkel in your mouth, GENTLY suck in air through the mouth and let go of the mask (sucking too strong can distort the seal). Mask should be able to stay on the face for several seconds.
6. Adjust the strap to LIGHTLY hug the back of the head. Again, suck in air GENTLY through the nose. Mask should have a complete seal.
7. Local dive shops often carry limited selections. Don't be talked into a particular brand. Keep looking until you find the best fit. There is a difference!
